

The sound of the drum was gradually increasing, and the two dragons were watching as if in an instant. "Dong! Dong! Dong! Dong!" The drummer pounded loudly, controlling the advancing rhythm of the entire team; Swinging the oars neatly and consistently, responding with force; The helmsman stood, watching all directions and listening in all directions, grasping the direction of the journey. As the end draws closer, the slogans of drummers, rowers, and helmsmen become louder and more powerful!

The people on the slope were startled by thunderbolts, and their pole heads were adorned with rainbow hues. Come on! Row! "The crowd surged on the shore. The scorching weather persuaded the audience not to give up their enthusiasm. Men, women, and children gathered on both sides of the Puxia River, and even cute pets came to watch the game. Cheers, cheers, and shouts echoed through the sky, never ceasing to be heard. This morning, more than 100000 people watched the dragon boat competition on-site.

It is understood that the China Dragon Boat Competition was founded in 2011 and is the top-level dragon boat competition with the highest level, competitive level, and total prize money in China. It conducts three straight track races, namely the 100 meter, 200 meter, and 500 meter races, consisting of five groups: the working men's group, the working women's group, the elite open group, the young men's group, and the young women's group. The competition force of Fuzhou railway station consists of the standard dragon boat of China Dragon Boat Competition and the traditional dragon boat force of Fuzhou. The athletes invited for the competition include industry associations, dragon boat clubs, college students, overseas students, foreign friends, local residents and other dragon boat enthusiasts from all walks of life.